

My road trip through America.

I would drive from Doncaster to Manchester and stay over night in a hotel. I would then catch the plane from Manchester to Chicago.

We would visit the magnificent mile, to see the cloud gate (or the bean as it is called) and listen to an orchestra at millennium park. Chicago is known as the windy city because you get lots of wind off the big lake. You can experience blues music here. Chicago is famous for its deep-dish pizza, so we would definitely get one of these!

From Chicago we would fly to Austin Texas. Austin's motto is "keep Austin weird" it is a crazy place so I will fit in there!! I am told it is extremely hot there. If you like rock music you need to go to a famous street called 6th street where there is a band playing in every single restaurant or pub (so that's hundreds and hundreds of bands playing each night).

We will then get a huge train called the Amtrack train to travel across Texas. I am told the train was much bigger and more comfortable than our trains and it had a restaurant and lounge area.

We will then go to Fort Worth, which is an old cowboy town, where we can see the long horn cows being herded and go to a real rodeo. There will also be lots of people dancing in a famous place called Billy Bobs. We will also visit the Cowboy hall of fame. Texas is famous for its big steaks so this is what we will eat here!!

We will then then get back on the train and go back to Austin and then fly to New Orleans where we will see different music festivals which get played in the streets. We would listen to brass bands and go to an open front bar.

We would fly to Florida and go to Disney world. We would see all the characters and have fun. We would go to a fantastic theme park. We would then go to a wonderful water park.

We would then fly to Washington DC. I would take us all to the Washington national cathedral. We would then go to the National gallery of art. We would explore and see if there were any paintings from the 1960s or the 1980s.

We would fly to New York. I would take us to the Pizza place on any block because there are tons of pizza places. We would then go on a tour and get busy! We would see a show that contains music.

We would fly to Michigan and go to Belle isle park. I would then take us to Porcupine mountains (The mountains are shaped like a porcupine). We would then go to Fort makinat and look at everything that is there.

We would then catch a bus to California, and we would go to Golden gate park. I would take us all to Hurst Castle and we would discover what people had in the olden days and faces in the olden days. We would all go to the Science centre. We would do some science and meet back outside the centre. We would hire a car and drive round Beverly hills and see all the glamorous houses.

We would fly to Los Angeles and we would touch the Hollywood stars-You might imagine it to be glamorous, wouldn't you? It might look a bit grubby and rough, but we will still have an amazing time.

After that, we would go Home. We would fly back to Manchester and find our cars. We would go home, have our tea, get our PJ on and go to bed.
